About the Conference

India stands at the cusp of transformation, aiming to emerge as a developed nation by 2047. The government's vision of a "Viksit Bharat" pivots on achieving comprehensive financial, digital, and health inclusion. As we chart our path forward, it becomes crucial to address the systemic challenges in these domains to empower citizens, particularly those in rural and underserved areas.

Inclusion, in these areas, not only enables individuals to access essential services but also helps uplift communities, drive economic growth, and ensure equitable development. However, there remain significant gaps that need to be bridged — from financial literacy to digital access, and from healthcare infrastructure to affordability.

This conference will bring together academicians, policymakers, industry experts, and stakeholders from various related sectors to discuss strategies, innovations, and policies that can promote inclusion and contribute to the vision of a Viksit Bharat.

Conference Objectives

- Highlight the critical role of financial, digital, and health inclusion in achieving equitable growth and national development.
- Examine existing challenges and explore sustainable solutions in these areas to ensure no citizen is left behind.
- Foster collaboration between government, private sector, civil society, and academia to create synergies for effective implementation of inclusive policies.
- Showcase successful case studies from India and across the world, demonstrating innovative models of inclusion.
- Identify key policy frameworks that can accelerate inclusion and drive socio-economic development at the grassroots level.
- Encourage public-private partnerships in designing and delivering inclusive services that reach every corner of the country.
