

Centre for Culture, Media and Governance
Jamia Millia Islamia
New Delhi

Thursday, 24th Jan, 2019
2:00 pm

HICKY'S
BENGAL GAZETTE;

CCMG INVITES YOU TO THE THURSDAY LECTURE SERIES

Lecture on

'The Origins of India's First Newspaper'

A lecture on the circumstances under which James Augustus Hicky started Hicky's Bengal Gazette, and the British East India Company's response. What made colonisers think about formulating regulation to curb the flow of information.

Andrew Otis is a journalist and historian. He holds a BA in History and Political Science from the University of Rochester and is currently pursuing a PhD in Journalism at the University of Maryland's Philip Merrill College of Journalism. Andrew spent five years researching and writing on Hicky's Bengal Gazette, first as a Joseph P. O'Hern scholar in London and then as a Fulbright-Fellow to Kolkata, India (2013-2014). Andrew lives in Washington D.C.

Andrew Harrison Otis

Venue: CCMG, Video Conference Hall