JMI celebrates National Oral Pathologists Day

The Faculty of Dentistry, Jamia Millia Islamia (JMI) celebrated National Oral Pathologists Day on 25th February 2025, with great enthusiasm and participation. This day holds special significance as it marks the birth anniversary of Dr. H. M. Dholakia, the first postgraduate teacher of Oral Pathology in India. The event was organized to honour the contributions of oral pathologists and foster academic discussions within the field.

Prof. Keya Sircar, Dean, Faculty of Dentistry, delivered the welcome address, setting an inspiring tone for the celebration and emphasizing the significance of oral pathology in modern dentistry. A highlight of the celebration was the insightful guest lecture on the topic "Beyond the Obvious: Integrating Clinical Signs and Pathological Findings in Oral Diagnosis," delivered by Prof. Manish Bhargava, Professor and Head, Oral Pathology, Manav Rachna Dental College. His lecture provided valuable insights, enhancing the understanding of clinical and pathological correlations in oral diagnosis.

The event witnessed enthusiastic participation from faculty members, interns, and students of the Faculty of Dentistry. Student volunteers added a festive touch with rangoli and floral decorations. The event concluded on a joyous note with a ceremonial cake-cutting, symbolizing the collective achievements and camaraderie of all participants.

The organizing team, including Prof. Aman Chowdhry (Organising Chairman), Prof. Deepika Bablani Popli (Event Coordinator), Prof. Vatchala Rani (Event Coordinator), and Dr. Yusra Khan (Registration), extended their sincere thanks to everyone involved in making the National Oral Pathologists Day 2025 a grand success.
